Međunarodni pozorišni festival Joakimfest

Festival je osnovan 2006. godine, pod nazivom Joakim-Interfest, na inicijativu tadašnjeg direktora Knjaževsko-srpskog teatra, reditelja Dragana Jakovljevića, a uz veliko razumevanje i podršku Grada Kragujevca. Tadašnje uprave, teatra i Grada Kragujevca, prepoznale su potrebu za jednim internacionalnim pozorišnim festivalom koji bi unapredio pozorišni život na ovom prostoru, a vernoj kragujevačkoj publici i uposlenicima ovog teatra pružio uvid i informacije u nove pozorišne tokove.

Joakimfest (menja naziv 2020) je festival savremenog, modernog, estetski, tematski i poetički referentnog pozorišta, koji izborom predstava nastoji da bude vidljiv ne samo u lokalnoj zajednici no i u širem regionu. Festival slavi i neguje estetski sofisticirano, društveno odgovorno, subverzivno i emancipatorsko pozorište koje se hvata u koštač s gorućim problemima i fenomenima vremena i sveta u kojem živimo.

JoakimInterFest was founded as JoakimInterfest in 2006 on the initiative of the then general manager of the Princely-Serbian Theatre, director Dragan Jakovljević, and with great understanding and support from the City of Kragujevac. The then administrations of the theatre and the City of Kragujevac respectively, recognized the need for an international theatre festival that would improve theatre life in this area, and provide loyal Kragujevac audience and employees of this theatre with insight and information into new theatre trends. Thus, the Princely-Serbian Theatre, with its significant tradition, has become the initiator of a more than necessary theatrical exchange, which intensified that segment of theatrical life in this part of Serbia, south of Belgrade.

The International Theatre
Festival – Joakimfest

Od osnivanja Festivala do danas, na Joakimfestu je izvedeno preko 140 predstava iz 25 zemalja sveta u kojima je učestovalo više od 700 pozorišnih stvaralaca. Tokom svih ovih godina, Festival s podjednakom pažnjom prati kako afirmisane autore i autorke internacionalne i domaće pozorišne scene, tako i one mlade pozorišne stvaraoce, koji upravo ovde dobijaju podršku i mogućnost svoje šire umetničke afirmacije.

Tročlani međunarodni žiri dodeljuje dve nagrade na Festivalu: Gran pri „Joakim Vujić“ za najbolju predstavu u celini i Specijalnu nagradu grada Kragujevca.

Domaćin i organizator Festivala je Knjaževsko-srpski teatar, a glavni pokrovitelj Grad Kragujevac.

Joakimfest (the name was changed in 2020) is a festival of contemporary, modern, aesthetically, thematically and poetically referential theatre, which, through the selection of performances, strives to be visible not only in the local community but also in the wider region. Joakimfest celebrates and nurtures an aesthetically sophisticated, socially responsible, subversive and emancipatory theatre that tackles burning issues and phenomena of the time and the world in which we live.

Since the foundation of the festival until today, over 140 performances from 25 countries of the world have been performed at Joakimfest, in which more than 700 theatre creators have participated. All these years, the festival has been following with equal attention both well-known authors of the international and domestic theatre scene, as well as those young theatre creators who receive support and the possibility of their wider artistic affirmation.

The three-member international jury awards two prizes at the festival: the Grand Prix “Joakim Vujić” for the Best Overall Performance and the Special Award of the City of Kragujevac.

The host and organizer of the festival is the Princely-Serbian Theatre, and the main sponsor is the City of Kragujevac.

Pozorište jeste život

Poštovani,

Sa velikim zadovoljstvom i zahvalnošću imam priliku da vas pozdravim na početku još jedne uzbudljive pozorišne misije, na počektu 16. Međunarodnog pozorišnog festivala Joakimfest. Uprkos svim otežavajućim okolnostima izazvanim globalnom pandemijom usled koronavirusa i velikom neizvesnošću koju ona nosi, sve vreme pripreme ovog festivala verovali smo u besmrtnost pozorišta i pozorišne ideje. Ta vera nam je i pomogla da u proteklih skoro šest meseci, intezivno radimo na pripremi ovog festivala.

Sigurni smo da organizacija bilo kog kulturnog događaja, a posebno međunarodnog festivala danas predstavlja pravi podvig. Nadamo se da će teške okolnosti isčeznuti i da će svet optimističnije zakoračiti u budućnost u kojoj se

Respected,

It is with great pleasure and gratitude that I am using the opportunity to greet you at the beginning of another exciting theatre mission, the 16th International Theatre Festival Joakimfest. Despite all the aggravating circumstances caused by the global pandemic due to the coronavirus and the great uncertainty it carries, we believed in the immortality of theatre and theatrical ideas throughout the preparation of this festival. During the past six months, that faith has helped us work intensively on the preparation of this festival.

We are certain that organizing any cultural event, especially an international festival, is a real undertaking these days. We hope that the difficult circumstances will vanish and that the radujemo životu, ali i pozorištu. Jer pozorište jeste život! Bez obzira na sve trenutne otežavajuće okolnosti Knjaževsko-srpski teatar i Međunarodni pozorišni festival Joakimfest će naći način da budu sa svojom publikom zbog koje, na kraju krajeva, i radimo i postojimo.

Imajući u vidu sve prethodno izrečeno, imam potrebu da se najiskrenije zahvalim našem malom i festivalu posvećenom timu koji je sa puno znanja, energije i entuzijazma predvodila selektorka festivala Branislava Ilić. Posebnu zahvalnost iskazujemo i Ministarstvu kulture i informisanja Republike Srbije i Gradu Kragujevcu čija je podrška svih prethodnih godina, kao i ove, bila ključna i bez koje Joakimfest ne bi ni postojao, ni opstajao.

Verujući u ideju pozorišta koje jeste život, želim vam iskrenu dobrošlicu na 16. Međunarodni pozorišni festival Joakimfest!

Mladen Knežević,
Direktor festivala i Knjaževsko srpskog teatra world will step more optimistically into the future in which we are looking forward to life, but also to the theatre. Because theatre is life! Regardless of all the current aggravating circumstances, the Princely Serbian Theatre and the International Theatre Festival Joakimfest will find a way to be with their audience, because of which, after all, we work and exist.

Having all previously said in mind, I need to sincerely thank our small and festival-dedicated team, led with a lot of knowledge, energy and enthusiasm by the festival curator Branislava Ilić. We also express special gratitude to the Ministry of Culture and Information of the Republic of Serbia and the City of Kragujevac, whose support in all previous years, as well as this one, was crucial and without which Joakimfest would neither exist nor survive.

Believing in the idea of theatre which is life, I wish you a sincere welcome to the 16th International Theatre Festival Joakimfest!

Mladen Knežević,
Festival director and the Princely Serbian Theatre general manager

ŽIVOT POSLE

Može li jedan pozorišni festival da ispriča priču? Zašto bi to radio i jedan pozorišni festival? Možda je umoran od takmičenja i revija. Uozbilji se molim te. Ozbiljna sam. O čemu bi bila ta priča? O tome koliko se život posle razlikuje od života pre. A šta ako se ne razlikuje? Onda je priča o tome kako se život posle ne razlikuje od onog pre. Pre čega? Pre trenutka koji nas menja. Posle kog „više ništa nije isto“. Posle raskida, rođenja, zaposlenja, otkaza... Posle ratova, revolucija, pobuna. Posle bolesti ili traume. Posle nečije smrti. Ili posle digitalizacije? O da, ili posle strašne digitalizacije koja sve nas, tako plemenite, dehumanizuje. Da li je to neka strašna priča? Kako za koga. Zavisi ko se čega boji.

Ko su junaci te priče? Aleksa, Mekoj, Filip, Fedor, Džoni, Tišma, Dimitrije, Selvedin... To je neka muška priča? Tražila si junake. Maja, Nina, Tjaša, Selma, Jovana, Mateja, Emina, Emina. Dve Emine? Šta fali? Zvezdana, Mirna, Evelin, Suzi, Maria, Vera, Vera, Vera. Hej, to je previše žena za jedan pozorišni festival u Srbiji! Martin, Boris, Marjan, Nikola, Nikola. Sad već zezaš? Ha-ha-ha-ha, ne.

Dobro, koliko će predstava biti na Joakimfestu? Šest predstava i jedan snimak. Kakav sad snimak? Snimak predstave. Želim da se publika i žiri festivala stave u poziciju u kojoj je bila većina selektora u prethodnom periodu. Da procene značaj neke predstave bez obzira da li gledaju predstavu uživo ili na snimku. Hoćeš li napokon reći koje su predstave u selekciji? Hoću. Ali ne sad. Nego kad? 26. avgusta u Kragujevcu. U Knjaževsko-srpskom teatru. Sigurno? Ništa nije sigurno. Ukoliko to pandemijske okolnosti dozvole.

Zašto ovo radiš?

„Stvari se u životu ponekad tako zapliću da ostane nejasno što je bilo prije, a što poslije, kao što ni ja ne znam pričam li ovu priču da bih došla do njezina kraja ili do njezina početka.“

Dubravka Ugrešić / Ministarstvo bola

Curator's statement

LIFE AFTERWARDS

Can a theater festival tell a story? Why would any theater festival do that? Perhaps it's tired of competitions and revues. Get serious, please. I am serious. What would that story be about? It would be about how much the life afterwards differs from the life before. And what if it's no different? Then the story would be about how the life afterwards doesn't differ from that of before. Before what? Before the moment that changes us. The moment after which "nothing is ever the same." After a breakup, birth, employment, dismissal... After wars, revolutions, uprisings. After an illness or a trauma. After someone has died. Or after digitalization? Oh yes, or after a terrible digitalization that dehumanizes all of us, ever so noble people. Is it a horror story? It depends on whom you ask. It depends on who is afraid of what.

Who are the heroes of that story? Aleksa, McCoy, Philip, Fedor, Johnny, Tišma, Dimitrije, Selvedin ... Is that a man's story? You wanted male protagonists. Maja, Nina, Tjaša, Selma, Jovana, Mateja, Emina, Emina. Two Eminas? What's wrong with that? Zvezdana, Mirna, Evelyn, Susie, Maria, Vera, Vera, Vera. Hey, that's way too many women for one theater festival in Serbia! Martin, Boris, Marjan, Nikola, Nikola. Are you pulling my leg now? Hahahaha, no.

Okay, how many performances will be at Joakimfest? Six performances and one video recording. What video recording are you talking about? A video recording of a performance. I want the audience and the festival jury to put themselves in the shoes most curators were in during the previous period. I want them to assess the importance of a performance regardless of whether what they are watching is live or recorded. Will you finally divulge which performances will feature in the official selection? I will. But not now. But when? On August 20 in Kragujevac. At the Princely Serbian Theatre. Is it definite? Nothing is definite. Provided that the pandemic circumstances allow for it.

Why are you doing this?

Life is sometimes so confusing that you can't be certain what came first and what came later. By the same token I don't know whether I'm telling this story to get to the end or the beginning of things.

Dubravka Ugrešić (The Ministry of Pain)

ŽIVOT POSLE

Trideset godina posle

Zatvorena pozorišta, nemogućnost putovanja, nepoznat budžet, neizvesno održavanje festivala usled pandemije kovida 19... sve su to okolnosti sa kojima se susreću svi selektori koji pokušavaju da osmisle koncept za neki od mnogobrojnih jesenjih pozorišnih festivala. „U pozorištu je sve moguće“, dobar deo nas i dalje u to veruje, ali kako u tolikoj neizvesnosti, projektovati i osmisliti koncept koji bi trebalo da nosi i potencijal visokog stepena ostvarljivosti? Dramaturško pitanje u ovim okolnostima bilo bi, postoji li tema koja je u stanju da na sceni „nadigra“ koronavirus i njegovu dominaciju u našim životima? Možemo li još uvek da zamislimo život posle korone?

Closed theatres, inability to travel, unknown budget, uncertainty over whether the festival will be held due to the COVID-19 pandemic... these are all circumstances facing all the curators who are trying to come up with a concept for some of the many autumn theatre festivals. “Everything is possible in theatre”, many of us still believe in that, but how, with such uncertainty, should one outline and devise a concept that should carry the potential of a high degree of feasibility? And the dramaturgical question in these circumstances would be, is there a topic able to “outplay” the coronavirus and its dominance in our lives? Can we still imagine life after COVID-19?

My first decision was not to select performances deliberately tackling the virus subject. The second decision was geographically-related, to have all performances be from the region of the former Yugoslavia. There are two reasons for this. The first is that in this region, unlike in some others, despite all the limitations and problems, the plays were still being made and performed. The second, more important reason for me, is that exactly 30 years ago, the disintegration of the once joint state began. And to anticipate all anti-Yugoslavs and disappoint

Thirty years afterwards

Moja prva odluka bila je da neću uzimati namenski pravljene predstava na temu virusa. Druga odluka u vezi je sa prostornim određenjem da sve predstave budu sa eks-Ju prostora. Iz dva razloga. Prvi je taj, da su se na ovom prostoru, za razliku od nekih drugih, uz sva ograničenja i probleme, predstave ipak i radile i igrale. Drugi, za mene značajniji razlog, jeste taj da je tačno pre 30 godina započeo raspad nekad zajedničke države. I da preduhitrim sve antijugoslovene i razočaram jugonostalgičare, Jugoslavija nije tema moje selekcije. Trideset godina je dovoljno dug period da skeniramo ovaj prostor kroz teme kojima se teatri ali i neki novi mladi pozorišni ljudi bave. Život posle je moj intimni, subjektivni pogled na ovaj prostor i teatar, 30 godina posle.

Joakimfest je festival koji je u svim svojim selekcijama tokom ovih 15 godina, vodio računa da pored afirmisanih autora pruži šansu i novim mladim ljudima. Mislim da tu tradiciju nisam izneverila. Po prvi put na ovom festivalu su: Tjaša Mislej i Mateja Kokol koje nam predstavom Naš magacin na duhovit način približavaju više no aktuelnu i bolnu temu eksploataisanja ženske radne snage u magacincu jednog hipermarketa. Mlada dramska spisateljica Nina Plavanjac, suprotno tome, bavi se jakom ženom, glumicom, koju usamljenost prisiljava da se suoči sa svojom ranjivošću, ali i da pronađe dovoljno snage da se suprotstavi tudioj manipulaciji. Kompozitor i reditelj Marjan Nećak je upravo u tekstu Samo glas ove mlade autorke, pronašao inspiraciju za svoje muzičko-scensko istraživanje. Filip Grujić, mladi dramski i prozni pisac, koji je takođe prvi put na Joakimfestu, je svoj roman prvenac Bludni dani kuratog Džonija dao u ruke isto tako mladom ali već uigranom, rediteljsko-dramaturškom dvojcu, Jovani Tomić i Dimitriju Kokanovu, koji su sa sjajnom autorskom ekipom napravili scenski izuzetno atraktivnu i duhovitu predstavu. Kad smo već kod oprobanih rediteljsko-dramaturških dvojaca, u njih se mogu ubrojati i Maja Pelević i Nikola Zavišić. U interaktivnoj audio-vizuelnoj instalaciji Kao da kraj nije ni sasvim blizu u kojoj može da učestvuje samo petoro ljudi, koristeći samo glas, pozivaju malobrojnu publiku na izmeštanje iz

Yugo-nostalgic people, Yugoslavia is not the topic of my selection. Thirty years is long enough a period to scrutinize this region through topics that theatres and some new young theatre people deal with. Life Afterwards is my intimate, subjective view of this region and theatre, 30 years afterwards.

Joakimfest is a festival that, in all its selections during these 15 years, has taken care to give a chance to fresh young people in addition to well-known authors. I don't think I have failed that tradition. For the first time at this festival, we can see: Tjaša Mislej and Mateja Kokol, who, with the play Our Warehouse, bring us closer to the more current and painful topic of exploiting female labor in the warehouse of a supermarket by means of humor. The young playwright Nina Plavanjac, on the other hand, portrays a strong woman, an actress, whose loneliness forces her to face her own vulnerability but also to find enough strength to resist being manipulated by others. It is precisely in the playtext Only Voice, by this young author, that the composer and director Marjan Nečak has found the inspiration for his musical stage research. Filip Grujić, a young playwright and writer, who is also debuting at Joakimfest, put his debut novel Obscene Days of Johnny Long Johnson into the hands of an equally young but already well-coordinated director-dramaturge duo, Jovana Tomić and Dimitrije Kokanov, who, collaborating with a great authorship team, created a very attractive and witty play. Speaking of tried-and-tested director-dramaturge duos, Maja Pelević and Nikola Zavišić can also be included. In the interactive audio-visual installation As If the End Were Not Quite Near, which only five people can participate in, using only their voices, they invite a small audience to transition from this world to digital reality in an attempt to think of some new forms of coexistence and unity of man and machine. The question that the author's team asks is whether it is possible today, more than ever, in loneliness and ovog sveta u digitalnu realnost u pokušaju promišljanja nekih novih oblika suživota i zajedništva čoveka i mašine. Pitanje koje autorski tim postavlja je: da li je danas, u samoći i izolaciji, u iskrivljenim percepcijama realnosti, moguće više nego ikad graditi nove oblike zajedništva?

Iskusni rediteljsko-dramaturški tandem, Boris Liješević i Fedor Šili, poznati su po tome da vole da se hvataju u koštač sa ozbiljnim i teškim književnim izazovima. Ovog puta dolaze sa sjajnom dramatizacijom antologijskog romana Upotreba čoveka, Aleksandra Tišme, o tragičnoj sudbini ljudi u ratu, sudbini nekoliko porodica koje su živele pre, za vreme i nakon Drugog svetskog rata. Predstava koja nas upozorava na to da ratna psihologija lako i brzo čoveka pretvara u robu, u materijal za sprovođenje tudihih namera.

Bosansko narodno pozorište iz Zenice i rediteljka Selma Spahić su na Joakimfestu bili uvek dobro prihvaćeni i nagrađivani. Selvedinu Avdiću, jednom iz plejade sjajnih bosanskohercegovačkih pisaca koji poslednjih godina privlače sve veću pažnju čitalačke publike u regionu i šire, ovo je druga saradnja sa rediteljkom u pozorištu u Zenici. Prva je bila na sjajnoj predstavi Moja fabrika. Kao neko ko oseća ogromno poštovanje za teatre koji se na svojim scenama bave temama svoje zajednice, predstavu o događajima u toku ratnih dešavanja u Zenici, Sedam strahova, smatram neverovatno hrabrim činom i značajnom predstavom kako u pozorišnom smislu, tako i građanskom.

Prethodnih godinu i po dana, u Srbiji smo često slušali od pozorišnih ljudi kako snimak pozorišne predstave ne može nikako da zameni živu predstavu iako to niko nije ni dovodio u pitanje. U trenutku kada su pozorišta u Makedoniji bila zatvorena mesecima, u Makedonskom narodnom teatru u Bitolju urađena je onlajn premijera predstave po tekstu Horasa Mekoja I konje ubijaju, zar ne u režiji Martina Kočovskog, dobro poznatog kragujevačkoj publici. Martin Kočovski je inteligentno i dramaturški vešto u onlajn prenos predstave upisao, uključio i kontekst zatvorenog teatra, praznu salu, distancu među ljudima u tehnicu, oko scene i na sceni. Na taj način je dramaturški isolation, with distorted perception of reality, to build new forms of togetherness?

The experienced director-dramaturge tandem, Boris Liješević and Fedor Šili, are known for their love of tackling serious and difficult literary challenges. This time they arrive with a great dramatization of the anthological novel The Use of Man, by Aleksandar Tišma, about the tragic fate of people in wartime, of the fate of several families who lived before, during and after the Second World War. It's a performance that warns us that war psychology easily and quickly turns a person into a commodity, into a means of carrying out other people's objectives.

The Bosnian National Theatre from Zenica and director Selma Spahić have always been well received and awarded at the Joakimfest. For Selvedin Avdić, one of the multitudes of great Bosnian writers who, in recent years, have been attracting more and more of readers' attention in the region and beyond, this is the second collaboration with the director at the theatre in Zenica. The first was on the great performance My Factory. As someone who feels great respect for theatres that on their stages deal with the themes of their communities, I consider the play Seven Terrors, tackling the wartime events in Zenica, an incredibly brave act and a significant play both in theatrical and civic sense.

For the past year and a half in Serbia, theatre people have often been saying that a video recording of a theatre performance can in no way replace a live performance, even though no one even disputes that. At the moment when the theatres in North Macedonia had been closed for months, an online premiere of the performance based on the text by Horace McCoy They Shoot Horses, Don't They? and directed by, with Kragujevac audience well-acquainted Martin Kochovski, was produced at the National Theatre in Bitola. In the online broadcast of the performance, Martin Kochovski included, with intel-isprepleo fikciju sa scene sa dokumentarnošću situacije u kojoj je pozorištu zabranjeno da igra predstave. Koliko god da se ova predstava uživo igra u pozorištima i na festivalima, nikada neće imati taj segment dokumentarnog zapisa i svedočenja jednog trenutka, kakav ima snimak.

Ovo je sedam predstava koje će svojim temama, scen-skim promišljanjem i estetikom, nadam se, ispričati priču život posle i uspeti, opet se nadam, da nadigraju koronu.

ligence and dramaturgical skill, the context of the closed theatre, the empty hall, the distance between people, in the technique around the stage and on the stage. In that way, he dramatically intertwined fiction from the stage with the documentary aspect of the situation in which the theatre is forbidden to stage performances. No matter how much this performance is staged live in theatres and at festivals, it will never have that aspect of documentary recording and testimony of a moment, as a recording has.

These are the seven performances that will hopefully, through their themes, stage deliberation and aesthetics, tell the story of life afterwards and outplay the coronavirus.

She has written thirteen plays (7 of which have been staged), five dramatizations, around 50 radio miniatures, and several screenplays for various TV formats. Her plays usually deal with the problems women experience when clashing with patriarchal value system (Tearing Apart, The Body, I Do Not Consent, Decapitated...) but also with those of construction worker fatalities (The Fall) as well as with the issues of individuals at odds with small-town mentality in I Don't Want to Be a Monster, Grandma.

Her stories (for children and adults), plays and dramatizations have been published in magazines and collections. She has published two books of plays: Small-Town Theatre in 2007, Niš Cultural Center and in 2017 Drame / Plays – a bilingual edition of plays - Serbian Reading Room in Irig and Borislav Mihajlović Mihiz Fund.

Awards: Jovan Sterija Popović Award for the play The Body at the open competition of Sterija pozorje for a new dramatic text; Borislav Mihajlović Mihiz Award for dramatic creative work; two annual commendations of the National Theatre in Belgrade and an annual award of the Youth Theatre “Dadov” for dramatization.

For twenty years she has been educating young people in theatre practices through various types of workshops. She is the author and coordinator of several art projects (domestic and regional ones) and takes part in art projects of other authors and various artistic groups.

In 2019 and 2020 she was the curator of the “Joakim Vujić” Festival of Professional Theatres in Serbia.

ŽIRI JURY

Nada Kokotović

rediteljka i koreografkinja
- predsednica žirija

Nada Kokotović rođena je u Hrvatskoj, studirala je klasičan i moderni balet, film i pozorišnu režiju i filozofiju u Zagrebu. Odrastajući u kulturno raznolikoj, kosmopolitskoj i umjetnički eksperimentalnoj Jugoslaviji, već kao mlada plesačica i koreografkinja dobila je priliku da radi s renomiranim savremenim kompozitorima (Bruno Maderna, Karlheinz Stockhausen, Milko Kelemen) i rediteljima. Pet godina boravi na Muzičkoj akademiji Kidi (Accademia Musicale Chigiana) u klasi Clotilde i Aleksandra Saharova (Clotilde Sakharoff, Alexandre Sakharoff). Bila je članica baleta HNK u Zagrebu, članica KASP-a (Komorni ansambl slobodnog plesa, Zagreb). Talentovana i ambiciozna, krajem 70-tih, dobila je dvogodišnju IREX i Ford stipendiju u Sjedinjenim Američkim Državama, gde je radila s Džordžom Balanšinom (George Balanchine) u Njujork siti baletu i Of Brodveju kao i u Državnoj operi u Njujorku (New York State Opera, Alice Tuly Hall).

Nakon boravka u SAD uvela je u jugoslovenski kulturni prostor koreodramu kao novi teatarski oblik i od tada je napravila više od stotinu produkcija. Zajedno s Ljubišom Ristićem osniva multietnič-

director and choreographer
- president of the jury

Nada Kokotović was born in Croatia, and she studied classical and modern ballet, film and theatre directing and philosophy in Zagreb. Growing up in a culturally diverse, cosmopolitan and artistically experimental Yugoslavia, as a young dancer and choreographer, she was given the opportunity to work with renowned contemporary composers (Bruno Maderna, Karlheinz Stockhausen, Milko Kelemen) and directors. He spent five years at the Accademia Musicale Chigiana in the class of Clotilde and Alexandre Sakharoff. She was a member of the HNK Ballet in Zagreb, a member of KASP (Chamber Ensemble of Free Dance, Zagreb). Talented and ambitious, in the late '70s, she received a two-year IREX and Ford scholarship in the United States, where she worked with George Balanchine at the New York City Ballet. She staged productions off-Broadway as well as at the New York City Opera (Alice Tuly Hall).

After her stay in the USA, she introduced choreodrama into the Yugoslav cultural space as a new theatrical form and has since made more than a hundred productions. Together with ki, multikulturni, višejezični teatarski projekat KPGT. Go-stuju po Jugoslaviji, Meksiku, SAD, Australiji i Evropi. Rat u Jugoslaviji i politička dezintegracija domovine, prisiljavaju je, kao slobodnu građanku sveta po uverenju, da naglo pre-kine karijeru na ovom prostoru. 1992. godine, Nada Kokoto-vić odlazi u Nemačku.

Uprkos gubitku jezika, dugogodišnjih prijatelja i kolega, njena kreativna snaga nije posustajala. Kao frilens rediteljka i koreografkinja, ostvaruje vlastite produkcije, a sa umetničkim i životnim partnerom Nedom Osmanom 1996. godine osniva teatar TKO (Teatar „Kokotović Osman“) u Kelnu, u kome su između ostalog, radili i ciklus predstava „postratna dramaturgija“ po delima Dubravke Ugrešić, Slavenke Drakulić, Biljane Srbljanović, Gorana Stefanovskog...

Do sada, Nada Kokotović je u Nemačkoj uradila 78 predstava. Gostovala je i radila u mnogim teatrima: Državni teatar u Tübingenu (Landestheater Tübingen), Državni teataru Sarbrikenu (Saarländische Staatstheater), Plesniforum u Kelnu (Tanzforum Köln), Opera u Štutgartu (Staats-theater Stuttgart), Gradski teatar i Opera u Konstancu (Stadttheater und Rathausoper Konstanz), Letnji teatar Iberlinge (Sommertheater Überlingen), Gradski teatar u Vircburgu (Mainfranken Theater Würzburg), Sanktpeterburško državno akademsko dramsko pozorište „V. F. Komisarževska“ (Вера Фёдоровна Комисаржевской) (Rusija), Teatar u Kajzerslauternu (Stadttheater Kaiserslautern), Teatar Rigiblick u Cirihu (Švajcerska), CZKD Beograd, Narodni teatar Bitola (Severna Makedonija), HNK „Ivan pl. Zajc“, Rijeka (Hrvatska)...

Nažalost, povodi za njen dolazak u Srbiju i profesionalni angažman, posle 2000. bili su sporadični i retki.

Ljubiša Ristić, she founded the multiethnic, multicultural, multilingual theatre project KPGT. They toured Yugoslavia, Mexico, the USA, Australia and Europe. The war in Yugoslavia and the political disintegration of the homeland forced her, as a cosmopolitan by conviction, to abruptly terminate her career in this region. In 1992, Nada Kokotović emigrated to Germany.

Despite the loss of her language, longtime friends and colleagues, her creative power did not wane. As a freelance director and choreographer, she has been realizing her own productions, and she and her artistic and life partner Ned Osman co-founded the TKO Theatre (Theatre Kokotović / Osman) in 1996 in Cologne, where, among other things, they worked on a series of plays “Postwar Dramaturgy” based on the works of Dubravka Ugrešić, Slavenka Drakulić, Biljana Srbljanović, Goran Stefanovski...

So far, Nada Kokotović has done 78 performances in Germany. She has performed and worked in many theatres: State Theatre in Tübingen, Saarland State Theatre in Saarbrücken, Dance Forum in Cologne, Stuttgart State Opera, City Theatre and the Constance Opera, Summer Theatre Überlingen, Mainfranken Theatere Würzburg, Castle Theatre Moers, Komissarzhevskaya Theatre in St. Petersburg (Russia), Theatre in Kaiserslautern, Theater Rigiblick in Zurich (Switzerland), CZKD Belgrade, National Theatre Bitola (North Macedonia), Croatian National Theatre Ivan pl. Zajc in Rijeka (Croatia)...

Unfortunately, after 2000, grounds for her arrival and professional engagement in Serbia have been sporadic and rare.

Tišmin roman Upotreba čoveka kompleksna je priča o tragičnoj sudbini ljudi u ratu, sudbini nekoliko porodica koje su živele pre, za vreme i nakon Drugog svetskog rata.

„Svaki put kada se menjaju društvena uređenja, prolaze tragična ratna i poratna vremena, ruše se vrednosti i grade nove, traži se jasna odluka, preživeti ili ne. Grad je ovde kontekst i nemni svedok, aktivni činilac koji istovremeno i trpi promenu i menja se, sam ističući svu tragediju glavnog lika.“ Nataša Gvozdenović, Vreme

Glavna junakinja je Vera Kroner, devojka iz bogate trgovačke jevrejske porodice, koja iz gospodskog novosadskog života biva deportovana u Aušvic 1943. sa svojom porodicom ali i sa ostalim jevrejskim porodicama. Vera jedina preživljava taj stravičan život i prizore, jer logorsko vreme provodi u „kući radosti“, bordelu u kojem im seksualne us-luge koje pružaju SS vojnicima, produžavaju život i odlažu put u krematorijum.

Predstava je realizovana u okviru zajedničkog regionalnog programa „Dijalog za budućnost“ koji u Srbiji, Bosni i Hercegovini i Crnoj Gori sprovode UNESCO, UNICEF i UNDP.

Tišma's novel The Use of Man is a complex story about the tragic fate of people in war, the fate of several families who lived before, during and after the Second World War.

The protagonist is Vera Kroner, a girl from a rich Jewish family of merchants, who was taken from her stately life in Novi Sad and deported to Auschwitz in 1943 with her own but also other Jewish families. Vera is the only one to survive that horrific life and sights, because she spends her camp days in the “house of joy,” a brothel where the sexual services they provide to SS soldiers prolong their lives and delay their trip to the crematorium.

Debuting in the performance in the role of Vera Kroner is Marta Bereš, the best actress of the past theatre season, according to the Hungarian theatre critics.

The performance was realized within the joint regional program “Dialogue for the Future” which is being implemented in Serbia, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Montenegro by UNESCO, UNICEF and UNDP.

„Siguran sam da se mnogi pitaju – zašto mi to danas gledamo? Mislim da je to veliki problem o kome, između ostalog, ova predstava govori. Govori da smo mi kao društvo postali bahati, bezobrazni, neuki, agresivni. Nama bi trebalo pisati nove knjige svakih pet dana. Prostor iz koga vi dolazite ima Tišmu, Kiša, Lebovića... samo njihove tri knjige dale bi materijala da se čovek zabavi narednih pedeset ili sto godina. Ništa mi nismo naučili.“

Aleksandar Tišma

Aleksandar Tišma was a novelist, poet, short story writer, playwright and translator. He was born on January 16, 1924 in Horgoš, and died on February 15, 2003 in Novi Sad. He completed elementary school and grammar school in Novi Sad, and his English language and literature studies at the Faculty of Philosophy in Belgrade in 1954. From 1945 to 1949 he worked as a journalist in Slobodna Vojvodina and Borba, and from 1949 to 1981 he was the editor of the Matica Srpska Publishing Company in Novi Sad and the editor of the Matica Srpska Chronicle from 1969 to 1973. He translated from Hungarian and German. His literary works have been translated into about 20 world languages. For his literary work he received numerous awards and recognitions in the country and abroad: the “Branko Radičević” Award (1957), the October Award of Novi Sad (1966), the Nolit Award (1977), the NIN Award for Best Novel of the Year (1977), the National Library of Serbia Award for Most Read Book (1978), Vojvodina Liberation Award (1982), Sisak Iron Works Festival Award (1984), Seventh of July Award of Republic of Serbia (1988), European Feuilleton Award in Brno (1993), the Leipzig Book Fair Award (1996), the Austrian State Prize for European Literature (1996), the City of Palermo Award “Mondello” (2000), the “Svetozar Miletić” Award for Journalism (2002) and the Vuk Award, posthumously (2003). He is the recipient of the National Order of the Legion of

“I’m sure many are wondering - why are we watching this today? I think that is a big problem that, among other things, this play is about. It says that we as a society have become arrogant, rude, ignorant, aggressive. We should have new books written for us every five days. The space from which you come has Tišma, Kiš, Lebović... their three respective books alone would provide ample material for a person to have fun for the next fifty or a hundred years. We haven’t learned a thing.”

Boris Liješević

Rođen je u Beogradu. Odrastao je u Budvi, gde je završio osnovnu i srednju školu. Diplomirao je na Filozofskom fakultetu u Novom Sadu, odsek za srpski jezik i književnost. Diplomirao je scensku režiju na Akademiji umetnosti u Novom Sadu, gde trenutno predaje glumu. Trostruki je dobitnik grantova Gete instituta u Beogradu.

Godine 2005. učestvovao je na Internationales Forum junger Bühnenangehöriger-u u okviru Berliner Theatertreffen-a.

U prvim godinama profesionalne karijere radio je sa mlađim savremenim srpskim dramskim piscima. Ova saradnja rezultirala je produkcijama kao što su Beograd – London (Fedor Šili), Dragi tata (Minja Bogavac), Zverinjak (Dušan Spasojević), Projekcija (Miloš Jakovljević).

Režirao je predstave sa vremenih dramskih pisaca iz Evrope i regionala: Pri-sustvo (Dejvid Harover), Osvrni se u gnev (Džon Ozborn), Osećaj brade (Ksenija Dragunskaja), Bella Figura (Jasmina Reza), Pijani (Ivan Viripajev)...

Razvijao je projekte snimajući tematske razgovore sa anonimnim sagovornicima otkrivajući njihova autentična iskustva: Čekaonica, Plodni dani, Povodom galeba, Očevi su grad(ili), Peti park. Projekti nastali improvizacijom: Čuvari tvog poštenja.

Rad na tekstu, odnosno mnogo sati provedenih u radu sa autorima na njihovom materijalu stožer je njegovog stvaralačkog procesa u poslednjih nekoliko godina, kao i osnova za rad u prostorijama za probe i na sceni, što je rezultiralo produkcijama drama Igora Štiksa: Elijahova stolica, Brašno u venama, Zrenjanin; Fedora Šilija: Čarobnjak, Noćna straža; Damira Karakaša: Blue Moon. Da li nas VR, AR, MR tehnologija zaista ugrožavaju i menjaju komunikaciju ljudi ili novu tehnologiju koristimo kao izgovor za nerešene civilizacijske probleme na planu društvenih vrednosti, kvaliteta odnosa i komunikacije među ljudima?

Predstava je inspirisana suptilnim prebacivanjem sveta, odnosa i ljudskih interakcija u digitalnu realnost, pokušajem promišljanja nekih novih oblika suživota i zajedništva čoveka i mašine u najintenzivnijim vremenima koje smo dosad iskusili. Publika, sastavljena od petoro ljudi, moći će da iskusi virtuelno putovanje kroz moguće nove svetove, „Savršeno/ne/savršeno, spoj čoveka i mašine uvek zapada u zamku, praštamo nesavršenosti i postajemo „u-savršeniji”, počinjemo da igramo po tim pravilima koje sami sebi pišemo.“ Filip Mikić oko i unutar nas samih. Kroz interaktivnu igru trenutnog zajedništva koje se uspostavlja u mikrostrukturi pozorišnog čina, publici se daje prilika da istovremeno bude izvođač, posmatrač i učesnik, i da bira ugao posmatranja.

Do VR, AR, MR technologies pose a genuine threat to us and change the way people communicate, or do we use the new technologies as an excuse for unresolved civilizational problems in terms of social values, quality of relations and interpersonal communication?

The performance is inspired by the subtle transfer of the world, relationships and human interactions to digital reality, an attempt to reflect on some new forms of coexistence and togetherness of man and machine in the most intense times we have ever experienced. The audience, composed of five people, will be able to experience a virtual journey through possible new worlds, around and within ourselves. Through the interactive game of current communion that is established in the microstructure of the theatrical act, the audience is given the opportunity to be a performer, an observer and a participant at the same time, and to choose the perspective.

„Sve se vrti oko onoga što je suprotno pozorištu, a to je osećanje samoće. Fenomen samoće je nešto sa čime se svako suočio u kovid vremenu i autori ovog projekta nas stalno vraćaju na to osećanje. Samoća nije nužno ni nešto lepo, ni ružno, ni srećno, ni tužno... samoća je praznina koja traži da se popuni, da se strukturiše, ispita, oseti...“

“It all revolves around what the opposite of theatre is, and that is the feeling of loneliness. The phenomenon of loneliness is something that everyone has faced in the times of COVID-19, and the authors of this project are constantly bringing us back to that feeling. Loneliness is not necessarily something beautiful, neither ugly, nor happy nor sad... loneliness is a void that seeks to be filled, to be structured, to be examined, to be felt...”

Rođen 1975. u Beloj Crkvi, SFR Jugoslavija.

Magistirao je pozorišnu režiju (2003) i diplomirao režiju i dramaturgiju (2000) na Praškoj akademiji scen-skih umetnosti (DAMU), na odseku za alternativno i lut-karsko pozorište.

Studirao je dramaturgiju na Fakultetu dramskih umetnosti (FDU) u Beogradu (1997/1999).

Piše i režira pozorišne komade. Režirao je više od 70 pozorišnih predstava za odrasle i decu, u pozorištima u Srbiji, Crnoj Gori, Bosni i Hercegovini, Sloveniji, Hrvatskoj, Nemačkoj, Rusiji, Češkoj i Holandiji. Režirao na velikim i malim scenama, u velikim i manjim produkci-jama. Iskustvo koje je dobio radeći kao asistent A. J. Weissbard-a dizajnera svetla, na operi Osud Lecša Janačeka u režiji Roberta Vilsona, u Narodnom pozorištu u Pragu 2002. godine, trajno ga usmerava ka istraživanju upotrebe svetla u pozorištu.

Tokom svoje karijere dobio je preko 30 nagrada (najbolji reditelj, najbolja predstava, najbolji dizajn svetla...) i mnoge nominacije za pozorišni rad u različitim zemljama na mnogo-brojnim festivalima na kojima su njegove predstave igrane.

Nikola Zavišić je od 2005. vodio brojne radionice dizajna svetla u pozorištima, pozorišnim akademijama i na različitim pozorišnim festivalima.

Iz te radionice potiče umetnička grupa za dizajn analogne rasvete „Radio.Nica“.

„Radio.Nica“ okuplja vrsne mlade i kreativne umetnike različitih interesovanja i veština (scenografe, redитеље, pisce, glumce, cirkusante) u mobilnu grupu koja se bavi različitim oblicima umetnosti oblikovanja svetla: radionice, instalacije, predstave, dizajn svetla za koncerte i interaktivne događaje unutar i izvan pozorišta.

Ako Alan Vots nešto propagira, onda je to život u trenutku, prisustvo u trenutku i obraćanje pažnje na sve što ne pripada ličnom, ego principu koji vlada u ovoj civilizaciji. Dakle izlazak iz sebe, ulazak u stanja svesti koja se tiču šireg posmatranja slike sveta, što se takođe dešava u ovoj predstavi.

"This is a short poem, written in free verse, in seven chapters. Each of them begins with the verse "I'll tell you my story, it's the story of each of us." The usual details of life appear one after another, poetically hidden in blurry images, more like sketches of children's memories, of first and last loves; experiences of electrodes and pixels and hybrid reality."

„Ovo je kratka poema, pisana slobodnim stihom, u sedam poglavja. Svako od njih počinje stihom 'Ispričaću vam moju priču, a to je priča svakoga od nas'. Redaju se ubočajeni životni detalji, poetski sklonjeni u mutne slike, više skice detinjih sećanja, prvih i poslednjih ljubavi; iskustva elektroda i piksela i hibridne stvarnosti.“

large and small-scale productions. The experience he gained working as an assistant to A. J. Weissbard, a lighting designer, on the opera Destiny by Leoš Janáček, directed by Robert Wilson, at the National Theatre in Prague in 2002, permanently led him to research the use of light in theatre.

Throughout his career he has amassed more than 30 awards (best director, best performance, best lighting design etc.) and many nominations for theatre work in various countries at numerous festivals at which his performances were staged.

Since 2005, Nikola Zavišić has facilitated numerous lighting design workshops in theatres, theatre academies and at various theatre festivals.

From that workshop experience originated the analog lighting design artistic group [Radio.Nica]. [Radio.Nica] has gathered excellent young and creative artists of different interests and skills (set designers, directors, writers, actors, circus performers) into a mobile group that is involved in many different forms of the art of lighting design: workshops, installations, performances, lighting design for concerts and interactive events inside and outside of theatre.

„If Alan Watts propagates something, it is living in the moment, being present in the moment and paying attention to everything that does not belong to the personal ego principle that rules in this civilization. So, it's about getting out of yourself, entering states of consciousness that concern a broader observation of the image of the world, which also happens in this performance.“ Nikola Zavišić

On je avanturista, hrabar, snažan, zavodljiv, narcisoidan, duhovit, razmažen i ranjiv... obožavan od žena i prijatelja. On je kurati Džoni! Govoreći o Džoniju, jedan od najperspektivnijih pisaca mlađe generacije, Filip Grujić, kaže da mu je namera bila da stvori lik prepun kontradiktornosti. On je bezbrižan i nežan, a istovremeno i drzak i uplašen. „Kroz njegov jezik želeo sam da prikažem našu generaciju. Naš humor je politički nekorektan, mimovi na internetu su politički nekorektni, ali sve oko nas je politički korektno, ceo medijski prostor.“ Sjajna autorska ekipa koju predvodi već uigran i uspešan rediteljsko-dramaturški tandem, Jovana Tomić i Dimitrije Kokanov, napravili su scenski izuzetno atraktivnu i duhovitu predstavu, koja se zaista može posmatrati i kao glas jedne generacije.

“At the very beginning of the play, I feel and hear something of the atmosphere we find in the novels and stories of Slobodan Tišma, although the route of our hero that goes from Novi Sad, Gothenburg, Prague... again back to Novi Sad, is above all Vegelian. Young Filip very accurately draws inspiration from his own Novi Sad literary heritage...”

Nataša Gvozdenović, Vreme

He is an adventurer, brave, strong, seductive, narcissistic, witty, spoiled and vulnerable ... adored by women and friends. He's Johnny Long Johnson! Speaking about Johnny, one of the most promising writers of the younger generation, Filip Grujić, says that his intention was to create a character full of contradictions. He is carefree and gentle, and at the same time impudent and scared. “Through his way of speaking I wanted to portray our generation. Our humor is politically incorrect, the Internet memes are politically incorrect, but everything around us is politically correct, the entire media space.” A great team of authors led by an already well-coordinated and successful director-dramaturge duo, Jovana Tomić and Dimitrije Kokanov, created a very attractive and witty play, which can really be seen as a voice of a generation.

„Na samom početku predstave osetim i čujem nešto od atmosfere koju nalazimo u romanima i pričama Slobodana Tišme, mada je trasa našeg junaka koja ide od Novog Sada, Geteborga, Praga... opet do Novog Sada, pre svega vegelovska. Mladi, Filip Grujić, vrlo tačno crpe iz sopstvenog novosadskog književnog nasleđa...“

je diplomirani dramaturg.

Autor romana: Podstanar (LOM, 2020) – nominovan za Evropsku nagradu za književnost i ušao u uži izbor za NIN-ovu nagradu; Bludni dani kuratog Džonija (Samizdat, 2017) po kom je ove godine i rađena predstava u režiji Jovane Tomić u Novosadskom pozorištu (Újvidéki Színház).

Dobitnik je Sterijine nagrade za dramu ne pre 4:30 niti posle 5:00, za koju je dobio i Nagradu „Slobodan Selenić“, a ista je podržana od strane Maison Antoan Vitez fondacije za prevod na francuski jezik. Premijera predstave po ovoj drami je bila u oktobru 2020. godine u Atelje-u 212 pod nazivom Pred svitanje, u režiji Andelke Nikolić.

Iste godine, po njegovoj drami Vilica Ebena Bajersa u režiji Marka Čelebića, u Srpskom narodnom pozorištu, izvedena je predstava Velika depresija, koja je bila selektovana na 66. Sterijino pozorje.

Dobitnik je Mihizove nagrade za dramsko stvaralaštvo za 2020. godinu.

Piše za sajt Filmoskopija i za nedeljnički Novi magazin.

Svira u bendu CIMERKE, a imao je i solo projekat pod nazivom „Filip Grujić“.

is a graduated dramaturge.

He has authored two novels: Tenant (LOM, 2020) - nominated for the European Prize for Literature; shortlisted for the NIN Award; Obscene Days of Johnny Long Johnson (Samizdat, 2017) – that was adapted for theatre this year, directed by Jovana Tomić; Novi Sad Theatre (Újvidéki Színház).

He is the winner of the Sterija Award for the play Not before 4:30 or after 5:00, for which he also received the “Slobodan Selenić” Award and was supported by the Maison Antoine Vitez Foundation for the French translation. The premiere of the performance of the play was in October 2020 in Atelje 212, entitled Before Dawn and was directed by Andelka Nikolić.

“If an adventure like The Odyssey were possible today, its protagonist would not be not a father looking for a way back home and to his family - but a “prodigal son” who, searching for his father – all the while opposing the “female” principle – would strive to discover himself. Starting from the insolent, disheveled, childishly wise miniature of Filip Grujić, “pulled” through the dynamic, cunningly “unbalanced” genre dramatization of Dimitrije Kokanov, director Jovana Tomić, in cooperation with an imaginative group of collaborators and an agile cast of the Novi Sad theatre, proffers an intriguing example of such an “inverted quest” - a story of fatal wins and precious defeats.”

The same year, based on his play Eben Byers' Jaw, directed by Marko Čelebić, the play The Great Depression was staged at the Serbian National Theatre, which was selected at the 66th Sterija pozorje.

He is the winner of the Mihiz Award for Dramatic Creativity in 2020.

He writes for the Filmoskopija blog, and for the New Magazine weekly.

He plays in the band Cimerke, and he also had a solo project called “Filip Grujić.”

Ako gledamo književnost, prepoznaćemo motive i, ili, atmosferu Roberta Cuka, možda Baala, mladog antiheroja svakako, kao kod Lagarsa u Sam kraj sveta, Keruaka... Ako bindžujemo Netflix, prepoznaćemo Džonija kao jednog od indi nadobudnih, duhovitih klinaca u The end of the fucking world, Generation +, spisak je dug. Za mene lično, Džoni je duhovit, hrabar, ranjiv, razmažen i, pre svega, bezobrazan, a toga nam danas baš fali.

Since the graduation play, her constant collaborator has been the dramaturge and playwright Dimitrije Kokanov. She has also directed the performances: Cabaret Nušić (B.Nušić / D.Kokanov) at the “Zoran Radmilović” Theatre, Lolita (V.Nabokov / D.Kokanov) at the Madlenianum, Barefoot in the Park (Neil Simon) and Lysistrata (Aristophanes) at the National Theatre in Subotica, If Twice Rotates The Weather Vane / Waiting For Future (Paolo Grassi Civic Dobitnica je nagrade „Neda Depolo“ za kreativni doprinos radio izrazu, koju dodeljuje Radio Beograd 2. Na 65. Sterijinom pozorju, predstava Kretanje u njenoj režiji, osvojila je šest nagrada.

If we seek him out in literature, we will recognize the motifs and, or, the atmosphere of Roberto Zucco, perhaps Baal, in any case that of a young antihero, just like with Lagarce in It's Only the End of the World, or Kerouac... If we binge-watch Netflix, we will recognize Johnny in one of the indie arrogant, witty kids in "The End of the Fing World," "Genera+ion", the list goes on. For me personally, Johnny is witty, brave, vulnerable, spoiled and, above all, impudent, and today that's something we are really in short supply of.

„Kompozitor i reditelj, Marjan Nećak, kao već potvrđen autor muzičkog teatra i ovog puta se upušta u novu muzičko-teatarsku istraživačku avanturu u kojoj muziku posmatra ne samo kao ravноправni scenski element, već upravo muzikom gradi i definiše dramsku strukturu, čime usložnjava i produžuje scenska značenja. Samо glas je inventivan istraživački teatarski projekat sa fluidnim prelazima iz scene u scenu i mnoštvom scenskih znakova. Ovo je predstava akustične semantike koja je retka u našoj teatarskoj praksi.“ Todor Kuzmanov

Posle raskida sa partnerom, baletskim igračem, ONA, poznata i cenjena glumica postaje usamljena i zatvara se u svoj dom. Društvo joj pravi samo kućni ljubimac, pauk Tarantula, poklon bivšeg partnera. U očajnoj potrazi za ljubavlju i afirmacijom, preko interneta upoznaje Njega, naizgled savršenog muškarca, da bi ubrzo otkrila da je žrtva opsednutog manipulatora koji učenama pokušava da uspostavi potpunu psihološku i emotivnu kontrolu nad njom. Kako sama autorka kaže, ovaj tekst je nastao iz razgovora i razmišljanja o usamljenosti i izolaciji. O projekcijama i toksičnim odnosima kojima se ljudi prepustaju, u strahu od bolne usamljenosti, nedostatka ljubavi i totalne izolovanosti. Izolacija koju nam je nametnuta usled okolnosti s koronom, samo je pojačala već postojeću samozolaciju usamljenih ljudi, punih strahova i očajničke potrebe za ljubavlju.

"Composer and director, Marjan Nechak, an already confirmed author of musical theatre, once again embarks on a new musical-theatrical research adventure in which he views music not only as an equal stage element, but it is through music that he builds and defines dramatic structure, thus making the stage meanings more complex and deeper. Only Voice is an inventive research theatre project with fluid transitions from scene to scene and a multitude of stage characters. This is a performance of acoustic semantics that is rare in our theatrical practice." Todor Kuzmanov

After breaking up with her partner, a ballet dancer, SHE, a famous and respected actress, becomes lonely and locks herself in her home. She is kept company only by her pet, a tarantula, a gift from her ex-partner. In a desperate search for love and affirmation, she meets Him via the Internet, a seemingly perfect man, only to soon discover that she is the victim of an obsessive manipulator, who tries to establish complete psychological and emotional control over her through blackmail. As the author herself says, this text arose from conversations and reflections on loneliness and isolation. It's about the projections and toxic relationships people indulge in, fearing painful loneliness, lack of love and total isolation. The isolation that has been imposed on us due to the coronavirus-related circumstances, has only strengthened the already existing self-isolation of lonely people, who are full of fears and in a desperate need for love.

Predstava Samo glas, četvrta je režija Marjana Nečaka. Pre nje je 2013. u makedonskom Narodnom tetru Bitola režirao autorski projekat Jasenjin, a 2018. u koprodukciji MMT-a i SNG-a iz Ljubljane režirao je savremenou operu Devojčica sa žižicama.

Za svoj rad višestruko je nagrađivan. Ima osam nagrada za muzuku na najprestižnijem festivalu u Severnoj Makedoniji, „Vojdan Černodrinski“.

Mono-opera Dnevnik jednog ludaka je najnagrađivanija njegova predstava. 2016. i 2017. je pokupila pregršt nagrada na festivalima – Festivalu malih scena, Rijeka (Hrvatska), Festivalu mono-

Marjan Nechak (Mapjan Nečak)

He was born in 1976 in Bitola. (North Macedonia)

He already showed interest in musical composition at the music school, where he studied double bass and solo singing. He graduated composition at the Department of Film and Theatre at the University of Audiovisual Arts, European Film Academy, ESRA Paris - Skopje - New York. From 2003 to 2021, he was an associate at the undergraduate and post-graduate studies of Dramatic Arts in Skopje, in the subject Song Interpretation.

His compositional work has been highly rated at more than fifty festivals in North Macedonia and around the world, and since 2013 he has also been directing.

In the author's quest for Total Theatre, in 2015 he founded the "Moving Music Theatre" (MMT) in Bitola, which, following the modern tendencies in musical theatre, strives to include the form of opera and visual arts with certain educational theatrical forms. MMT's first project was the mono-opera Diary of a Madman, based on a short story by Nikolai Vasilevich Gogol, which is still on the repertoire of this theatre.

Only Voice, produced by the North Macedonian National Theatre in Skopje, was the fourth time Marjan Nechak directed a performance. Before that, in 2013, he had directed the author project Esenin in the North Macedonian National Theatre in Bitola, and in 2018, in a co-production of MMT and SNG Drama Ljubljana, he directed the contemporary opera The Girl with the Strings.

He has received multiple awards for his work. He has amassed eight Original Score awards at the Macedonian Theatre Festival "Vojdan Chernodrinski" in North Macedonia.

drame u Bitolju, Festivalu monodrame i pantomime u Zemunu, INFANT-u (Novi Sad), PUF festivalu u Puli (Hrvatska), festivalu „Purgatorije“ u Tivtu (Crna Gora) kao i na 5. Be-femon u Bečeju.

The performance begins as a monodrama, only to turn into a communicative musical duo for male and female vocals, changing the styles of expression from dramatic, through musical to contemporary operatic interpretation.

2016. nagrađen je za najbolju muziku i najbolji song na Filmskom festivalu u Montrealu (Kanada), a 2018. na festivalu POST u Pečuju (Mađarska) dobija nagradu za muziku u predstavi Grobnica za Borisa Davidovića, Novosadskog pozorišta (Újvidéki Színház).

Savremena opera Devojčica sa žičicama pobedila je na 45. INFANT-u u Novom Sadu, a 2019. godine i na Viminacijum festu u Požarevcu. Na 29. Marulićevim danima u Splitu (Hrvatska) za istu predstavu dobio je nagradu „Marul“ za umetničko ostvarenje, a na 22. Međunarodnom festivalu kamernog teatra u Umagu dobio je Zlatnog lava za najbolju muziku.

This story between two partners who communicate only through their voices, without physical contact, without cognition nor image of what they look like, opens different possibilities in modern stage expression, and yet uses the oldest musical instrument in the world - the human voice.

The mono-opera Diary of a Madman is his most awarded play. In 2016 and 2017, it received numerous awards at festivals: Award for Best Original Score at the International Small Scene Theatre

Festival, Rijeka, (Croatia); it won the International Monodrama

Festival in Bitola, at the International Festival of Monodrama and Mime, Zemun; award at INFANT Festival (Novi Sad), at the PUF Festival in Pula (Croatia); Grand Prix for the best performance at the Purgatorije Festival in Tivat (Montenegro) as well as at the 5th BE:FEMON in Bečeј.

In 2016, Nechak received the Award for Best Song in Film Soundtrack and an Award for Best Original Score at the Montreal World Film Festival (Canada), and in 2018 at the POSzT National Theatre Festival in Pécs (Hungary), he received the Award for Best Theatre Music for the performance The Tomb for Boris Davidovich, Novi Sad Theatre (Újvidéki Színház).

The contemporary opera The Girl with the Strings was the winner at the 45th INFANT in Novi Sad, and in 2019 at the Viminacium Fest in Požarevac. At the 29th "Marulić Days" Festival in Split (Croatia), he received the "Marul" Award for artistic achievement for the same performance, and at the 22nd International Festival of Chamber Theatre in Umag, he received the Golden Lion for Best Original Score.

She is the screenwriter of the short feature films “Hike to the Moon” directed by Marko Džambić and Lazar Vranić, “A Wife and a Cat” directed by Lazar Vranić, and “Spoon,” directed by Marko Džabić.

As a dramaturge, she has been working on the musical Hair (2019) in Novi Sad.

Her 2021 text This Tomb Is a Whorehouse, entered the selection of the best texts of the North Macedonian Center of International Theatre Institute, and was presented at the international “Sturm und Drang” theatre festival.

The musical drama Only Voice, directed by Marjan Nechak, is her first realized drama in an institutional theatre, and the premiere of a performance based on her graduation project The Man from the Lake filled my Chest with Sleep is expected to be staged by the same director at the National Theatre Sombor, already this November.

Socijalna drama Naš magacin za koju je Tjaša Mislej dobita nagradu „Slavko Grum” za 2020. godinu, duhovita je drama iz naše sredine i vremena. Obrazlažući nagradu, žiri je naveo: „Četiri nevidljive radnice, magacionerke, u distopičnom svetu hipersupermegamaksimarketa, skrivene od očiju kupaca i javnosti, prehrambene artikle iz velikih i malih kutija ređaju na stalaže, lepe deklaracije, premeštaju punu i praznu ambalažu gore-dole, pa opet nazad ... u beskonačnoj jednoličnosti. U prisilno dobrovoljnoj izolaciji, kao u nekom logoru, ove četiri radnice rade, jedu, umivaju se i spavaju. Pred spavanje su im, vrlo škrto, dopušteni, samo jedna televizijska serija i šou „Talenti“. Kući idu, nedeljom; ali ne baš uvek.“ Nimalo ne čudi da je upravo ovaj tekst bio izbor rediteljke Mateje Kokol koja ima afiniteta ka društvenim temama.

“...What we saw on the stage in front of the moving screens on which bags of famous brands hang is the absurd position of four women. ...But the only thing more terrible than the weight of that monotonous work is a consequence. Visible dehumanization. as the silence of death of a lost customer and a worker, which is why Susie expresses doubt as to whether she is still a human being.”

Tadeja Krečić Scholten, the First Channel of Radio Slovenia

Social drama Our Warehouse for which Tjaša Mislej won the 2020 “Slavko Grum” Award is a witty drama from our surroundings and time. Elaborating on the granting of the award, the jury stated: “Four invisible female workers, warehouse workers, in the dystopian world of hyper-super-mega-max-stores, hidden from the eyes of customers and the public, arrange food items from large and small boxes on shelves, stick labels on imported goods, move full and empty packaging up and down, then back again... in infinite uniformity. In forcibly voluntary isolation, as if in a concentration camp, with little contact with the outside world, these four workers work, eat, wash up and sleep. Before going to bed, they are, very sparingly, allowed to watch only one television series and the TV show Talents. They go home, on Sundays; but not always.” It comes as no surprise that this particular text was the choice of the director Mateja Kokol, who has an affinity for social topics.

Mateja Kokol

Mateja Kokol je rediteljka mlađe generacije, ali već ima nekoliko značajnih predstava. Studije režije je završila na ljubljanskoj AGRFT (Akademija za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo) 2014. godine. Sa svojom diplomskom predstavom, Joneskovim Stolicama, gostovala je na mnogim međunarodnim pozorišnim festivalima (u Rusiji, Slovačkoj i Meksiku...) gde je više puta nagradjivana, između ostalog i za mladu perspektivnu rediteljku, na sanktpeterburškom pozorišnom festivalu ArtOkraina, nagradom koju dodeljuje Art Centar Most. Za istu predstavu dobila je i Prešernovu nagradu Akademije (AGRFT). Neosporan dokaz

Kroz humor i komunikativan dramski stil pratimo priče žena i glavnu i veoma bolnu, aktuelnu tematiku iskorištavanja ženske radne snage, koja je zbog preživljavanja primorana na žrtvovanje svog zdravlja, lepote, duše, odnosa i porodičnog i društvenog života...

Through humor and communicative dramatic style, we follow the stories of women and the main and very painful, contemporary topic of exploitation of female labor force, who are forced to sacrifice their health, beauty, soul, relationships and family and social life...

razvoja njene rediteljske estetike je bila i postavka predstave Momak, devojka i gospodin, Vinka Moderndorfera. Svoj rediteljski senzibilitet u radu sa glumcima potvrdila je i u predstavama Neobičan događaj sa psom u noći Marka Hadona i Bella Figura Jasmine Reza. Pozorišno stvaralaštvo za nju nema granica – stvara i deluje kako u domaćim pozorišnim produkcijama tako i u stranim (vodila je pozorišne radionice i sarađivala kao komentorka u pozorišnoj školi na španskom ostrvu Tenerife, a prošle godine i u Meksiku).

Mateja Kokol is a director of the younger generation, but she already has several important plays under her belt. She completed her directing studies at the AGRFT (Academy of Theater, Radio, Film and Television) in Ljubljana in 2014. With her graduation play, Ionesco's The Chairs, she has been a guest at many international theatre festivals (in Russia, Slovakia and Mexico...) where she was awarded several times, including awards for a young promising director, at the St. Petersburg "ArtOkraina" International Festival of Chamber Theatres and Small-Scale Performances, an award given by Art Centre Most. She received the Prešeren Academy Award (AGRFT) for the same performance. An indisputable proof of the development of her directorial aesthetics was the staging of the play A Boy, a Girl and a Gentleman, by Vinko Möderndorfer. She also confirmed her director sensibility in working with actors on the plays The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time by Mark Haddon and Bella Figura by Yasmina Reza. Theater creation is limitless for her - she creates and acts in both domestic and foreign theater productions (she led theater workshops and collaborated as a commentator at the theater school on the Spanish island of Tenerife, and last year in Mexico as well).

Tjaša Mislej

Diplomirala je 2011. godine na komparativnoj književnosti i filozofiji. Drugostepene studije je nastavila na slovenistici, a paralelno i na Akademiji za pozorište (gledališče), radio, film i televiziju (AGRFT), na smeru praktične dramaturgije i dramskog pisanja. Nekoliko godina je radila kao mentorka omladinskih dramskih grupa (Zorana, Oksimoron). Od 2014. godine piše članke za pozorišne kataloge (SNG Drama Ljubljana, SLG Celje i PG Kranj). Na Nedelji slovenačke drame (TSD) 2014. godine, dobila je Grumovu nagradu mladom dramaturgu, za tekst Košnica (Panj). Njena drama Zarja i Svit bila je izabrana na konkursu JSKD (Javni sklad republike Slo-

„lako drama zadire u društvena pitanja i uslove rada, Tjaša Mislej je likove žena ocrta precizno, jakim karakternim bojama, tako da deluju toplo, ponekad pomalo pomaknuto i karikaturalno, tj. komično i apsurdno...“

“Although the drama touches on social issues and working conditions, Tjaša Mislej outlined the female characters accurately, characterized them with bold colors, so that they seem warm, sometimes a little wacky and cartoonish, i.e., comical and absurd...”

She graduated in 2011 with a major in comparative literature and philosophy. She proceeded to study Slovene language and literature as part of her second-degree academic studies, and at the same time study at the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television (AGRFT), in the field of practical dramaturgy and dramatic writing.

For several years she worked as a mentor to youth drama groups (Zorana, Oksimoron). Since 2014, she has been writing articles for theatre catalogs (SNG Drama Ljubljana, Celje City Theatre and Prešeren Theatre Kranj).

At the Week of Slovenian Drama (TSD) in 2014, she received the “Slavko Grum” Award for Young Playwright, for the play-text Hive. Her play Zarja and Svit was selected at the JSKD competition (Republic of Slovenia Public Fund for Cultural Activities) and was printed in the “Spetka” collection (2014). The plays Hive and Zarja and Svit were publicly read at SNG Drama (2014 and 2016). The play Hive premiered at the House of Culture, KD Kamnik in 2015. The drama Warehouse was publicly read at the Mini Theatre (2018) at the festival “Scream.” As a dramaturge and co-author of the text, she collaborated on the play Satyriconiade, directed by Tjaša Črnigoj (GT22, 2018).

venije za kulturu) i štampana je u zbirci Spetka (2014). Drame Košnica, Zarja i Svit bile su javno čitane u SNG Drami (2014. i 2016). Drama Košnica premijerno je izvedena u Domu kulture, KD Kamnik 2015. godine. Drama Magacin (Skladišče) je bila javno čitana u Mini teatru (2018) na festivalu Vzkrik (Krik). Kao dramaturškinja i koautorka teksta, sarađivala je na predstavi Satirikonijada, u režiji Tjaše Črnigoj (GT22, 2018). Aprila 2020. na 50. Nedelji slovenačke drame (TSD), njen komad Naš magacin (Naše skladišče), dobio je nagradu „Slavko Grum“, kao najbolja nova drama i prošle godine je imao svoju praizvedbu u Prešernovom gledalištu u Kranju. Kao koautorka dramskog omnibusa sarađivala je na predstavi Tišina među nama (Tišina med nami), u režiji Nine Šorak (MGL Mestno gledalište Ljubljansko, 2020). Njena prva radio drama Letovanje u Grčkoj (Grške počitnice) u režiji Alen Jelen, emitovana je na Prvom programu Radio Slovenije u sklopu međunarodnog ciklusa Lica migracija.

In April 2020, at the 50th Week of Slovenian Drama (TSD), her play Our Warehouse won the “Slavko Grum” Award for Best New Slovenian Play, and last year it premiered at the Prešeren Theatre in Kranj. As a co-author of a drama omnibus, she collaborated on the performance Silence Between Us, directed by Nina Šorak (Ljubljana City Theatre, 2020). Her first radio drama Greek Vacation, directed by Alen Jelen, was broadcast on the First Channel of Radio Slovenia as part of the international cycle Faces of Migration.

Mateja Kokol

“The mechanism of the capitalist system, which destroys any perspective for improvement, consequently reflects on the life course of certain dramatic characters who, despite their unyielding character, can hardly escape manipulation”

„... Ono što smo videli na pozornici ispred pokretnih ekrana na kojima vise torbe poznatih markiapsurdan je položaj četiri žene. Njihovo postojanje određuje isključivo rad. ... No, od težine tog monotonog rada strašnija je posledica, dehumanizacija vidljiva kao prećutkivanje smrti izgubljenog kupca i radnika, zbog čega Suzi izražava sumnju u to je li uopšte još ljudsko biće.“

„Predstava I konje ubijaju, zar ne ima dve dramaturške linije. Prva je narativna i u velikoj meri prati scenario filma i romana, druga je semiotička, lična – rediteljska i ima subjektivni karakter i ulogu.

Narativna linija generalno govori o očajničkoj borbi Glorije, Roberta i ostalih likova, da prežive u vreme Velike depresije u Americi, 30-tih godina prošlog veka. Psihofizička depresija, koja je danas epidemiološka bolest, a bila je prisutna i tada, glavna je tema narativne dramaturške linije.

Sveprisutnu nečovečnost danas, otvara i razvija druga dramaturška linija koja obrađuje iste teme kao i prva, ali u savremenom kontekstu.“

Martin Kočovski

O snimku, predstavi i „konjima“:

Onlajn premijera predstave I konje ubijaju, zar ne, bila je 30. 12. 2020, a premijera na sceni Narodnog pozorišta u Bitolju održaće se 30. 9. 2021. Pozorište nije radilo od marta do oktobra 2020. Tada započet rad na predstavi, ubrzo se prekida zbog bolesti glumaca i nastavlja u decembru. Ovi podaci najbolje ilustruju stanje u pozorištima u Makedoniji u proteklih godinu i po dana.

Reditelj Martin Kočovski je inteligentno i dramaturški vešto u onlajn prenos predstave upisao, uključio i kontekst zatvorenog teatra, praznu salu, distancu među ljudima u tehnići, oko scene i na sceni. Koliko god da se ova predstava uživo igra u pozorištima i na festivalima, nikada neće imati taj segment dokumentarnog zapisa i svedočenja jednog trenutka, kakav ima snimak.

Ako neka predstava u ovoj selekciji sublimira (tematski) sve ostale u koncept ŽIVOT POSLE na ovom prostoru, onda je to ova. Ona je istovremeno „pučanj“ i „pučanje“, svih ljudi koji na ovom, nekad jugoslovenskom prostoru, posle 30 godina, ne uspevaju da prežive bolesne, manipulativne igre, mnogobrojnih (stranih i domaćih) kapitalističko-političkih moćnika.

Branislava Ilić

About the video recording, the performance and the “horses”:

The online premiere of the performance They Shoot Horses, Don't They? was on December 30, 2020, and the stage premiere at the National Theatre in Bitola will be on September 30, 2021. The theatre was closed from March to October 2020. The work on the performance was soon interrupted due to the actors' illness and continued in December. This information best illustrates the situation in theatres in North Macedonia in the past year and a half.

In the streaming of the performance, Martin Kočovski included, with intelligence and dramaturgical skill, the context of the closed theatre, the empty hall, the distance between people, in the technique around the stage and on the stage. No matter how often this performance is staged live in theatres and at festivals, it will never have that aspect of documentary recording and testimony of one moment, as a recording has.

If there is one performance in this selection which (thematically) sublimates all others into the concept of LIFE AFTERWARDS in this region, then it is this one. It is at the same time a “shot” and a “snap,” of all people, who in this once Yugoslav area, after 30 years, fail to survive the twisted, manipulative games of numerous (foreign and domestic) powerful capitalists and politicians.

Branislava Ilić

Horas Mekoj (Horace McCoy)

Rođen 1897. godine u gradiću Pegram, Mekoj je odrastao u Nešviliu, glavnom gradu savezne države Tenesi. Njegova spisateljska karijera počela je dok je bio u aktivnoj službi u Vazduhoplovnoj nacionalnoj gardi tokom Prvog svetskog rata, kada je pisao članke za novine svoje jedinice. Već potvrđen kao novinar, 1927. godine Mekoj, objavljuje svoju prvu priču Mesingana dugmad za časopis Holland's. Iste godine prodao je prvu od sedamnaest priča koje će kasnije napisati za časopis Black Mask, najpoznatiji od tadašnjih „celuloznih“ časopisa. Njegove priče za časopis pune su akcije, razmetljivosti i grubih dijaloga, ali kao i Dašiel Hamet i Rejmond Čendler, koji su započeli svoje karijere u Black Mask časopisu, priče takođe odaju stil i originalnost koji su karakteristični za njega.

Od 1925. godine, Mekoj se nekoliko puta uspešno okušao u glavnim ulogama na pozorišnoj sceni Dalasa što je doprinelo njegovoj odluci da se profesionalno bavi glumom, te se 1931. seli u Holivud. Glumački uspeh izostaje, te Mekoj počinje da zarađuje pišući scenarije i tritmente. Učestvovao je u pisanju više od 100 produciranih scenarija u periodu od dve decenije i ostao je u Holivudu do kraja života.

1935. godine Mekoj objavljuje svoj prvi roman, I konje ubijaju, zar ne?, za koji je kritika izrazila podeljeno mišljenje. Maratonski ples za kojim je poludeo jedan mali grad u Americi nudio je tada ljudima „besplatnu hranu i besplatan ležaj onoliko dugo koliko možete da izdržite da plešete i hiljadu dolara ako pobedite“. Promoteri ovog nakaznog spektakla nisu rekli da je ležaj dostupan na samo nekoliko minuta po pauzi i da će ljudi plaćati da gledaju kako se plesači ponižavaju i povređuju. Roman je adaptiran 1969. godine za čuveni istoimeni film u režiji Sidnija Polaka.

Neki od ostalih njegovih naslova: Ne možeš pare u grob poneti, Trebalj je da ostanem kod kuće, Poljubi sutra za

Horace McCoy

Born on April 14, 1897 in the small town of Pegram, Tennessee, McCoy grew up in Nashville, the state capital.

His writing career began while he was in active service in the Air National Guard during World War I, when he was writing articles for the unit's newspaper. Being already established as a journalist, he published his first short story, "Brass Buttons," in Holland's Magazine in 1927. The same year he sold the first of the seventeen stories he would go on to write for Black Mask magazine, the most famous of the "pulp" magazines of the time. McCoy's magazine stories are full of action, tough guy bravado, and hard-boiled dialogue, but like Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler, both of whom began their writing careers at Black Mask, they also display a style and flair that are recognizably his own.

Beginning in 1925, McCoy had a string of successes as a leading man on the Dallas theatre stage, zbogom, Skalpel... Za života, Mekoj je svojim radom bolje prihvaćen u Evropi nego u Americi, gde je imao komercijalni uspeh, ali ga kritika nije štedela. Umro je od srčanog udara 1955. godine.

The performance They Shoot Horses, Don't They? has two dramaturgical directions. The first is narrative and largely follows the screenplay and the novel while the other is semiotic, personal-directorial and has a subjective character and role. The narrative direction generally speaks of the desperate struggle of Gloria, Robert and other characters to survive during the Great Depression in the 1930s America. Psychophysical depression, which is an epidemiological disease these days, and was present even then, is the main theme of the narrative dramaturgical direction. The ubiquitous inhumanity of today is started and developed by another dramaturgical direction, which deals with the same topics as the first one, but in a contemporary context. Martin Kochovski contributing to his decision to become a professional actor so he moved to Hollywood in 1931. His thespian endeavors proved fruitless, so he began making a small living writing scenarios and story treatments. He went on to have a hand in more than 100 produced screenplays over two decades and remained in Hollywood for the rest of his life.

McCoy published his first novel, They Shoot Horses, Don't They? in 1935, to mixed reviews. The marathon dance craze that gripped small-town America at the time offered people "free food and free bed for as long as you last and a thousand dollars if you win." What the promoters of these freak shows didn't say was that the bed would only be available for a few minutes at a time and that people would pay to watch the dancers humiliate and injure themselves. In 1969 the novel was adapted for the silver screen as a famous eponymous movie directed by Sydney Pollak.

Other notable works are: No Pockets in a Shroud, I Should Have Stayed Home, Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye, Scalpel... In his lifetime, McCoy's work was better received in Europe than in America, where he was a commercial success but a critical failure. He died of a heart attack in 1955.

Martin Kochovski (Мартин Кочовски)

He was born in 1977 in Bitola. He graduated in theatre directing from the New Bulgarian University in Sofia. While still a student, he directed in theatres in Bulgaria and North Macedonia. He is the author of several interdisciplinary projects, such as Casablanca and All About My Mother, which explore the relationship between theatre and film. Kochovski is a director who, in his plays and performances, fiercely re-examines the truth of the present moment and the space in which we live, so it is not at all surprising that he often returns to the works of Bertolt Brecht. From the graduation play, A Man is a Man, through Drums in the Night, The Caucasian Chalk Circle, Baal, to Schweik in the Second World War.

He has also directed (selection): Forever and a Day by Milorad Pavić, The Vagina Monologues by Eve Ensler, Chernodrinski Comes Back Home by Goran Stefanovski, The Kick, Spring Awakening by Frank Wedekind, A Midsummer Night's Dream by Shakespeare, The Bones that Come Late by Teki Dervishi etc.

His plays belong to the authentic engaged theatre and as such, they participated and were awarded (Best Performance or Best Directing Award) at numerous festivals: in Macedonia (Theatre Festival Vojdan Chernodrinski, Risto Šiškov Festival of Chamber Theatre, MOT International Theatre Festival), in the region (International Theatre Festival MESS - Sarajevo, Ex Ponto International Festival of Performing Arts - Ljubljana, Yugoslav Theatre Festival - Užice, festival in Priština, JoakimInterFest - Kragujevac, International Festival of Alternative and New Theatre - Novi Sad ...) but also in Bulgaria, Romania, Czech Republic, Slovakia...

In 2010 he directed the performance Red, based stival Ex Ponto –Ljubljana i Primorski letnji festival – Koper (Slovenija), „Slovenska drama“ (Trst, Italija), MESS – Sarajevo (Bosna i Hercegovina), Mali dramski teatar i NU Narodno pozorište – Bitolj (Severna Makedonija) i Crnogorsko narodno pozorište (Crna Gora).

In 2012, Martin Kochovski was a member of the jury of the 12th JoakimInterfest in Kragujevac.

The subjective direction quotes, comments on and questions events, decisions and actions from our time, from 1977 until today, and goes into the near future as well.

So, it encompasses a period that is identical to the period of the director's life. It is an interesting parallel, which occurs when historical events correspond with the narrative direction of a screenplay or a novel. Sometimes they coincide, sometimes they are in conflict, and sometimes they diverge. There is no clear line where the story line ends and the subjective, personal one begins and vice versa.

Roman Enesa Halilovića, Ako dugo gledaš u ponor, ovenčan nagradom „Stevan Sremac”, zasniva se na istinitim savremenim događajima u Novom Pazaru. Priču prerano odrasle šesnaestogodišnje devojčice Nejre, koja na svojim rukama nosi teret siromaštva, finansijske odgovornosti porodice, pratimo do njenog punoletstva, kada se, usled svih strašnih okolnosti, njen život prerano završi.

Zlatko Paković, reditelj koji u svim sredinama u kojima radi, hrabro i beskompromisno otvara traumatične i bolne teme zajednice i ovog puta je nepogrešiv: „Sveža slika novopazarskih moćni-

„Glavna funkcija dosledno sprovodene metateatralnosti u ovoj iskrenoj i snažnoj predstavi je dijalektička. Neprestani izlasci glumaca iz uloga otvaraju prostor diskusije i imaginacije, konstrukcije novih situacija i mogućnosti, popravljanja sveta. Pozorište se tretira kao eksperiment života, šansa da se on učini pravednjim. Smisao ovih različitih sredstava teatralizacije, prema Brehtu, jeste pokazivanje da svet koji oduvek pozajemo, svet koji je ogrezao u lažima, nepravdi, nasilju, vladavini nepravde i zloupotrebi moći, nije nepromenljiva datost.“

Enes Halilović's novel, When You Gaze Long into an Abyss, awarded with the "Stevan Sremac" Award, is based on true contemporary events in Novi Pazar. We follow the story of the prematurely grown-up sixteen-year-old girl Nejra, who carries the burden of poverty, the financial responsibilities of the family, until adulthood, when, due to all the terrible circumstances, her life ends prematurely.

Zlatko Paković, a director who bravely and uncompromisingly broaches traumatic and painful community topics in all the environments in which he works, doesn't miss the mark this time either: A ka i njihovih poslova i dana, samo je deo grupe fresaka koja obuhvata čitavo srbijansko društvo – pokazujući njegovu kriminalizaciju, depolitizaciju, estradizaciju i pornografizaciju.”

Prateći njegovu nameru, čitav ansambl Novopazarskog pozorišta se svesno i hrabro, na sceni, izlaže zajednici u potrazi za istinom i zaključkom koji bi sve morao da nas zabrine:

„Ako dugo gledaš u ponor je roman dijalog, poput antičkih dijaloga. Ta forma je odgovarala ovoj priči gde filozof daje zamajac, a Nejra, glavna junakinja, priča svoju istinu, odrastanje, zaljubljivanje, poslove, glad i tugu. Svako od nas želi nekom da se poveri, jer нико nema takav poklopac na duši da može doveka čutati.

Umetnost ima tu sposobnost da se hrani umetnošću i tako se umnožava a primer za to su drame, filmovi koji nastaju po romanima a vrlo često se romani hrane filmskim ili pozorišnim likovima. Sve je to jedan vrtlog umetnosti koji nama veoma prija.”

Enes Halilović

„Ako se rodiš u siromašnoj porodici, i ako si pošten, ceo život provešćeš u bedi, argatujući samo da bi se jedva prehranio. Visoko obrazovanje ostaće ti nedostupno. Bićeš ponižen i potcenjen. Bićeš roba i rob, roba i robinja. Tvoja deca, i sama će biti roba i robovi.”

Predstava Ako dugo gledaš u ponor, je na 66. Sterijinom pozorju, osvojila šest nagrada, računajući i nagradu za najbolju predstavu.

fresh image of Novi Pazar's powerful people and their affairs and days is just a part of a group of frescoes that encompasses the entire Serbian society - showing its criminalization, depoliticization, extradition and pornography.”

Following his intention, the entire ensemble of the Novi Pazar Theatre consciously and bravely exposes itself on stage to the community in search of the truth and a conclusion that should worry us all:

“If you are born into a poor family, and if you are honest, you will spend your whole life in misery, toiling only to barely feed yourself. Higher education will remain inaccessible to you. You will be humiliated and underestimated. You will be a commodity and a slave. Your children will be commodities and slaves themselves.”

The performance When You Gaze Long into an Abyss, won six awards at the 66th Sterija pozorje, including the Best Performance Award.

“The main function of consistently implemented meta theatricality in this sincere and strong performance is dialectical. The constant departures of actors from their roles open up a space of discussion and imagination, construction of new situations and possibilities, reparations the world. Theater is treated as an experiment in life, a chance to make it fairer. The meaning of these various means of theatricalization, according to Brecht, is to show that the world we have always known, a world steeped in lies, injustice, violence, the rule of injustice and abuse of power, is not an immutable fact.”

When You Gaze Long into an Abyss, is a dialogue-based novel, like ancient dialogues. That form corresponded to this story where the philosopher provides the foundation, and Nejra, the heroine, narrates her truth, about growing up, falling in love, her jobs, hunger and sadness. A local problem proves to be a global phenomenon here. Inheritance takes precedence over justice, property over truth, possession over freedom. Inherited economic status becomes fate; belonging to the poor class becomes a curse.

Our performance mirrors the society and its norms. We were shaken by the knowledge we gained, discovering that customs, secular and sacral institutions exist mainly for people to hide their souls from themselves. For the city and cities, in the Cultural Center of Novi Pazar, we have created a place where citizens can face their own souls.

Tu se jedan lokalni problem pokazuje kao globalni fenomen. Nasleđe ima primat nad pravdom, imovina nad istinom, posed nad slobodom. Nasleđeni ekonomski status postaje sudbina: pripadnost klasi siromašnih postaje prokletstvo. Naša predstava je ogledalo društva i njegovih normi. Potreslo nas je saznanje do kojeg smo došli da običaji sekularne i sakralne institucije postoje uglavnom da bi ljudi u njima sakrili svoju dušu od sebe. Gradu i gradovima, u Kulturnom centru Novog Pazara sazdali smo mesto gde građani mogu da se suoče sa sopstvenim dušama.
